The People's Column

G. B. Post, a farmer and merchant of Route 1, Iola, Grimes county, and Tom Raley, garage man and blacksmith, of Iola were in Bryan recently and in a conversation with an Eagle reporter, Mr. Post said that if the Bryan Chamber of Commerce would see to it that the Democratic Crossing Road between Iola and Bryan was fixed up, it would be the best thing they could possibly do. Mr. Post, who hails from Cross, said that he thought that the road that needed fixing was between Wixon Creek in this county and the hill on the Grimes county side of the Navasot.

Mr. Raley stated that some grading had been done in this county, but there was still some low places in the road in Brazos county that had not been fixed up for travel in any kind of weather. He said that the road on the Grimes county side was bad but that the citizens of Iola and the business men of that place had some time ago agreed to grade a road to the Navasot bridge if the state maintenance people would map out the lines for the state designated highway. Since no lines have been marked, it seems that the work has been let go undone.

Mr. Post, in commenting on the trade from the North Grimes area to Bryan, said that this city was receiving a large portion of the business from that district when the roads were good, but that when roads were not good, then the people bought their things wherever they could. He said that he could safely and without hesitancy state that if Bryan would see to it that this road were fixed up in good shape, and, if possible, hard-surfaced through the bottom, Bryan could expect 50 per cent more business from the people of North Grimes and Southern Madison counties.

When asked where the trade went when it did not come to Bryan, Mr. Post replied that the majority of it went to mail order houses.

Bryan merchants and business men! What are you going to do?

Some Turnip Is Raised By the Negro Orphans

Rev. E. M. Griggs, superintendent of the colored Orphans' home at Booneville, was in the Eagle office recently and brought in a sample bunch of turnips which had been raised on the farm plot at the orphanage under the direction of the superintendent with the assistance and guidance of negro county agent, L. A. Nash. One of the three turnips in the bunch measured not quite 15 inches in circumference, which is a large-sized turnip. Rev. Griggs stated that he had about a half an acre of such turnips and that they were not pithy despite their large size. He said the children had been eating from the patch for some time and that there was a surplus for which he was trying to find a market, the proceeds from the sale of the turnips to go into the purchasing fund for the school. In other words he desired to transmute the turnips into bread and meat for the orphan children.

Not only does the colored orphans' home raise fine turnips but they have all kinds of green stuff for the children to eat, such as lettuce, onions and other forms of vegetables and greens. Rev. Griggs said it was the policy of the institution to grow as much of the feed and food-stuffs on the farm as was possible and he was grateful for the kindly and ready assistance of the assistant county agent, L. A. Nash.

Griggs added that he intended to put out about 10 acres of corn and quite a few black-eyed peas and some peanuts. He said that six acres of peanuts had been planted last year and he hoped to plant as many again this year. Other crops which are contemplated are milo maize and sudan grass.

The farm consists of 43 acres, 26 acres in cultivation and 17 acres in pasture and grounds.

There are 10 children in the home now, two boys and eight girls and the institution, by crowding up a little, can accommodate 20 in all. An application has come in from Houston for two boys and these will probably arrive some time this week as Supt. Griggs has accepted them. It may be that a third orphan child will accompany the two.

Supt. Griggs is doing a wonderful work at the home for the orphan children of his race. No children are refused, regardless of parentage, if they need a home. The farm is under efficient management and direction and with a little assistance now, will become self-supporting in a short time.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In an agreement to vote today on the proposed repeal of the inheritance tax, the Senate entered its second week of debate on the tax reduction measure, confident of passing it by Saturday. The repeal of the inheritance tax is recommended by the finance committee and is supported by both Republican and Democratic leaders. It has constituted one of the three main fighting points in the bill. The other two points are the reduction of the maximum surtax of 20 per cent, and the repeal of the law allowing the publication of amounts of income tax payments.

Farmers Pay Out Money for Non-Essentials

"People of Texas buy over $30,000,000 worth of canned fruits and vegetables annually from other states," declared A. P. Swallow, extension horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. College, in a radio talk over Station WFAA, Dallas, recently. "Farmers are paying a large part of that thirty millions of dollars for garden stuff that they could easily raise themselves. On the farms that make a practice of raising feed stuff for mules and livestock, less than half produce any fruits or vegetables for the family."

Mr. Swallow pointed out that vegetables and fruits furnish a very important part of the proper diet of the family. They supply vitamins, which are essential to the best health.

Good soil, fertilizer, early plowing and continued cultivation until planting time, together with the selection of varieties of vegetables adapted to your particular section are necessary for the best success in farm gardens, Mr. Swallow said.

He says that he owns 100 acres of land in the northern part of the county, but rents that out and leases land from John Roth of Kurten, working his place with four head of horses. He says that his children help him much in the field, his wife having died 13 years ago. The children are: Peter, aged 22; Cliff, aged 16; Joe, 15 and the daughter, Angel, aged 14. He cultivates 50 acres and easily makes a living from this tract by the farming methods he employs. He gains much knowledge from the information that Cliff picks up through his work in the boys' club of Kurten. When asked if he liked to live in the United States he replied "Yes", with emphasis and said that he would not like to go back to Mexico. In conclusion he said that he believed in education and wanted his children to attend school just as much as they could.

A. & M. COLLEGE EXPECTED TO ASK FOR NEW ARMORY, LIBRARY AND NEW DORMITORY BUILDINGS

"I think A. and M. is one of the most wonderful schools in the United States and I am very strong for A. and M.," said R. B. Walthall, member of the State Board of Control, who, with W. T. Gaston, Chief of the division of estimates and budgets, are at College Station with a view of making findings to influence the budget for the next biennium. The requests of the College will go before the Board about the first of June, said Mr. Walthall, at which time the A. and M. officials and those of other state institutions, will be present at Austin in person to represent their schools.

The last legislature, said Mr. Walthall, approved a fire-proof armory building for the A. and M. College, which appropriation was vetoed by Governor Ferguson. It is expected that the College will again ask for the armory and in addition for a new library building. When questioned in regard to dormitories, Mr. Walthall said that he thought that some of these buildings would be asked for to accommodate the students at the College.

He said that in commenting on his attitude and view of Bryan, one could go as far as he wished, because he could certainly praise its fine paved streets and its wide Main Street.

BODY OF AUGUST BEYER IS FOUND AT SUNDOWN BY HIS SON, EMIL

Despondency Is Given As Cause for Taking Own Life—Coroner's Jury Presided Over by Justice J. W. Hamilton Returns Verdict of "Suicide by Hanging Himself".

(From Friday's Daily)

A tragedy that has affected deeply the Kurten community and been felt throughout the county, occurred at the home of August Beyer on Thursday afternoon. When Emil Beyer returned from plowing in the field, which was about sundown, he could not find his father and after a search, found his body in the smoke-house where he had hanged himself with a rope. A coroner's inquest was held with Justice J. W. Hamilton presiding and Sheriff Jess Conless present. The verdict was "Suicide by hanging himself." Beyer has been a resident of the Kurten community for more than 40 years, following farming as a vocation, and spending all his leisure time in fishing, principally on the Navasot River and in that vicinity. He was somewhat of a recluse and very peculiar in habits and character. He was well known over the county, however.

NATIVE OF GERMANY.

August Beyer was born in Posen, Germany, February 14, 1861, and would have been 55 years old a week from next Sunday. He came to this country with his parents, when he was but a small boy, the parents settling in Fayette county. August Beyer came to Brazos county when he was 21 or 22 years of age with his brother, Emil, who now lives at O'Donnell, Texas. August kept up a farm in the Cedar Creek Bottom, near Edge Community, but he rents that out and prefers to work in the Kurten section for others.

At the time of his demise he was living and farming on the property of Mrs. Johnny Koppe and Fred Herring. He recently moved from the property of Oscar Kurten.

When the Eagle reporter arrived at the Beyer home, immediately after the inquest, the eldest son, Emil, stopped eating his supper to tell the story of the tragedy. He said that as near as he could tell it was about sundown that he came in from the fields. Missing his father, he started a search and found him as above recorded. He said that he was overcome for a few moments and then ran out in the road and called to a neighbor, Theodore Hinz, to come and help him. While awaiting the neighbor's arrival he ran back to the smokehouse and tried to get the body down, found the corpse cold, and evidently life having been extinct for some time. The rope broke and he laid the body down on the floor of the smokehouse. When Hinz arrived they took the body out of the building and laid it on the ground. John Valenta drove by and by him word was sent for Dr. W. F. Odum to come immediately. He pronounced the man dead.

The word was sent for local officers Justice J. P. Yeager and Constable W. M. Conrad, who came in a short time. Word was sent to Bryan to Sheriff Jess Conlee and Justice J. W. Hamilton who drove out to the Beyer home and held the coroner's inquest.

Funeral services for the deceased were held this afternoon at 2 from the residence, conducted by Rev. J. J. Kasiske, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church at Kurten, with burial following in the Kurten cemetery.

Deceased is survived by a brother, above mentioned, and one sister whose last known residence was near Temple, Texas. There are five sons: Emil, Fritz, Gus and August Jr., all of Kurten and Henry of O'Donnell, Texas. There are no other living relatives as far as is known. Deceased was a member of the Kurten Lodge, Sons of Hermann, which organization took part in the funeral services.

Jones' Bridge, on the former site of Jones' Ferry over the Brazos River, was named after him and his family. The land which he holds is under an original Mexican grant, written on sheepskin. He was brought to the section by state and federal officials and placed on it. He has about 1200 acres now. He is one of the few remaining old-time, wholehearted citizens who does not believe that the settling up of the old cow country is bringing ruin. He is a remarkably able man for his years and his character and connection with the county is unique.

H. G. Stallings Junior Saved A Boy From Death

The heroism of a 10-year old Bryan boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stallings of this city, has come to light, he having risked his own life to save that of his friend and companion, Hugh Thurman. The boys had gone bird-hunting and were southeast of the city limits, near the cess pool. The Thurman boy walked out on what appeared to be solid ground and it was the debris and other sediment formed on top of the water. He sank out of sight in what was later found to be water of a depth of about 25 feet. The Stallings boy, with precocious intelligence and with a judgment and nerve found in but few older boys, lay down on the edge of the tank and reaching out his arm, drew the Thurman boy to the bank and hauled him out of the mire to safety. It is said by those who have been at the scene that had it not been for the action of the Stallings boy, his companion would certainly have drowned.

Walter Smith and Carl Sealy of Millican were Bryan visitors today.

LIBRARIAN MISS WILLIE ROGERS HAS EVOLVED CREED FOR BRYAN—HOPES OTHERS WILL OFFER ONES

"I believe in Bryan and Brazos county, where youth sparkles and where they gain much delight in life. I believe in Bryan and Brazos county, where the soil is irrigated by rivers and artesian wells is profuse of many green-growing things, pecan trees and cotton fields. I believe in Bryan and Brazos county, for its A. and M. College, Allen Academy, Villa Maria and the splendid public schools. I believe in Bryan and Brazos county, for its churches that lead men to choice places of life's feasts; its siren that peals forth the alarm of fire and the splendid response of the fire-fighters. I believe in Bryan and Brazos county where prairie flowers bloom and the red and white mingle their colors with the blue bonnet, emblem of our beloved flag. I believe in Bryan and Brazos county for the splendid clubs that watch over the city and county; strong, ambitious, reigning amid the accelerating affluence of the human life of splendid men, women and children that are loyal to the flag that bears the Lone Star of Texas."

The foregoing is a "Creed for Bryan" as evolved by Miss Willie Rogers, librarian at Carnegie Library. She expresses the hope that others will formulate similar or other creeds for the city and county as a means of engendering patriotism of a local nature and enthusiasm for our own home-land.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree Is First Woman Chamber of Commerce President in the United States

(From Waco News-Tribune)

Maybe smoking among women is a fad. And maybe it will, like most fads, pass before it really fastens on the women of the south.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, Bryan, who was in Waco yesterday, and who holds one of two positions unique in the history of women's work in the United States, is optimistic as to the final fate of the cigarette as it affects the habits of femininity.

"I am hoping that the pendulum will swing at least far enough the other way to prevent our southern women from smoking," said Mrs. Rountree. "There are a lot of stable, dependable, far-sighted girls and women here, after all is said, and if smoking among women proves a fad it will have time to pass before it is taken up here to amount to anything. If it comes at all, it will in my judgment, be a long time in coming, and will encounter much opposition among the women as well as men."

Mrs. Rountree attended the meeting here of the fourth district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, as chairman of legislation of that body, making her presence felt throughout all deliberations.

Mrs. Rountree is probably the only woman in the United States who is president of a Chamber of Commerce, and she is, in addition, a director of that organization in Bryan, is editor of the Bryan Daily and Weekly Eagle and president of the Eagle Printing Company.

"I have just had a letter from New York, stating that I am probably the only woman in the United States who is president of a Chamber of Commerce, and stating that 'the eyes of the country are upon you,'" said Mrs. Rountree. She added, with a note of tenderness and determination in her "I feel that I am carrying on for a good and true man with whom I lived for many years my work every-thing to me. He fell in the harness, striving for constructive, ongoing, and I feel that it is a privilege to do my best to go forward in the direction he was going."

Explanatory of her remark, for those who do not know the history of her husband, was one of the best known publishers of Texas, and took a prominent part in the public affairs of the state.

He was born in Kyle, Hays county, and went into a printing office at the age of 11, his whole life, practically, having been spent in that work. He died suddenly, May 2, 1923, while on his feet in the Texas legislature. Being associated with newspapers—and he was proprietor of several in his life—he naturally had much to do with the public policies and politics. He was chief clerk of the legislature four terms, and represented Brazos county two terms in the legislature, always taking a stand on all questions of importance.

Mrs. Rountree believes that a certain amount of idealism should permeate everything.

"I think idealism should play some part even in business, and that is one reason why I hope to be of service to the board of directors of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce," she said, simply. "Now and then some little things may arise, where well directed tact can help a great deal on the board that among the men on the board I can be of kind of influence which may help to cement and rally all influences which will be beneficial—at least I hope so," she said.

Asked whether she thought the women of Texas and this section are fulfilling expectations in the matter of voting since gaining suffrage, Mrs. Rountree replied quickly.

"I believe the women are measuring up as well as the men—could you ask more of them? They are much younger at this than the men, but I regard them as already showing as much interest and as much judgment as the masculine. We all need a greater appreciation of the sanctity and potency of the ballot, of course."

Regarding the value of club work women are doing, Mrs. Rountree has distinct ideas. She believes that the first idea of clubs, which was that the women were getting together for social purposes, is passing, and that now clubs are the training ground for worth while women for worth while tasks in behalf of humanity.

"When we sell that idea to the public, and it is being sold, we will have made a long stride forward," she said.

In the matter of certain public policies, Mrs. Rountree thinks that it is best to find out the natural and practical alignments and working theories, following these gradually as the best course opens up. "For instance, I believe that railroad consolidations are the right thing, but that this should be accomplished not by force, but by gradual and natural and proper absorption," she said.

As a believer in youth and the future of the country as it passes into the hands of the oncoming generation, Mrs. Rountree is serene, unafraid, assured.

"The young people are doing

Presbyterians To Repair the Manse—Take $500

Immediately after the morning services yesterday the members of the First Presbyterian church present in the congregation met in a business meeting, called by the Session, to consider some repairs and general improvements needed on the manse, in anticipation of it being occupied by whoever may be chosen as pastor to fill the present vacancy. After electing F. D. Fuller as moderator, J. H. Mahoney reported for a committee, consisting of himself and Messrs. M. F. Dansby and W. L. McCulloch, that the repairs are badly needed and would amount to from $275 to $500, depending upon whether everything needed or only the more urgent things are attended to. After a brief discussion of the committee's report in which it became evident that those present seemed to be in favor of the larger amount and of getting everything in acceptably satisfactory shape, another committee consisting of the following was appointed to solicit funds: F. E. Lichte, chairman, Mrs. S. C. Hoyle, Mrs. Elton Stuart, Messrs. Fred L. Cavitt, J. H. Mahanney, W. L. McCulloch and J. Bryan Miller. This committee will try to see every member of the church or person otherwise interested within the next few days and trust they will meet with a prompt, cheerful and satisfactory response.

Oak McKenzie Not to Run for Attorney Again

To the Voters of Brazos County: Four years ago when I asked the people of this county for the office of County Attorney, I stated that I would not be a candidate for a third term. Having served the two terms for which I asked, I now announce that I will not be a candidate for a third term. I appreciate the kindness with which the people have served me these four years, and whether I ever again hold public office or not, I will always try to appreciate the way the majority of the people have stood by me. Mistakes I have made, but I can truthfully say, that I did my best with the light that was before me.

BOYS' WORK ASSOCIATION OF BRYAN FORMED AT A MEETING HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY

At a meeting of men and boys held at 7:30 o'clock at the high school last night, presided over by F. L. Henderson, president of the Bryan City School Board, an organization to be known as the Boys' Work Association of Bryan, was organized and temporary officers elected in the persons of F. L. Henderson, president and J. Bryan Miller, secretary.

In his opening address, Mr. Henderson set forth the need of good influences around the boys of the city and he suggested as the first step to make a survey of all the boys as to their environments, habits, etc.

Supt. Madison Hall was the next speaker and he stated that it seemed that the citizens of Bryan were neglecting, sometimes, their own boys in looking after our visitor boys in the students at A. and M. and Allen Academy. He said that we were apparently putting these students first and giving what was left to our own boys. He stressed the boy educational program need and thought the solution would have to come through the schools, both for the boys and the girls. His suggestions included the establishment of a junior high school as one of the possibilities and then the high school and a junior college. He also advocated the possibility of an organization or rearrangement of boys' work system, whereby all counties would share in the financial obligations as well as help construct and build the system.

He advocated the establishment of two additional ward schools, one located on the property in the northeastern part of the city and the other in the southern section. These buildings, with the one already on the ground, would be sufficient, he said, to meet the requirements of the ward schools as well as the Junior High, High School and Junior College, the latter offering two years of accredited college work.

Another suggestion he offered was that a means be worked out whereby a full-time physical director could be employed to stress physical training, not only for the boys and girls, in school and out, but for the citizens of Bryan who might care to take advantage of the service offered. The High school gym could be made suitable with the addition of only a few hundred dollars of equipment.

S. Moylan Bird, rector of the St. Andrews Episcopal church, was the next speaker and he brought out the point that every boy follows an example of some older person and that he thought the thing needed was to require the adults to clean their houses and set better examples before the youth.

Talks were also made by: Oak McKenzie, Rev. L. Guy Ament, Judge J. T. Maloney, W. S. Barron and W. P. Stevens of College. On motion duly made, passed, a temporary organization was effected as above stated. Then a committee consisting of the President and Secretary and Stuart Barron, I. E. Warren and J. T. Maloney, was named to meet on Sunday afternoon at 2 to formulate and perfect plans for a big mass meeting to be attended by 1,000 men, at which time there would be present a speaker of national prominence to address the gathering.

There were some 18 business and profession men present at the meeting last night and 22 boys, ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, most of whom were Boy Scouts.

Those present were: Adults, W. G. Alsobrook, W. S. Barron, S. Moylan Bird, Roy S. Hollomon, C. L. Eden, W. M. Griffin, J. T. Maloney, Oak McKenzie, I. E. Warren, Madison Hall, L. Guy Ament, A. B. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Buchanan of Kurten were among the delegates attending the Brazos County Baptist Workers Conference today at the First Baptist church.

BRAZOS COUNTY Boys' and Girls' Club Department

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

Howell Clubs Prizes.

All clubs competing for the Howell Lumber Company cash prizes to be awarded every 60 days, the first award to be made March 1, will see that their records are made this month. Clubs will be scored on enrollment, attendance at meetings, and keeping of records. Blanks will be sent each club for making out reports on progress of clubs. Get busy, club leaders, and see that your club goes "over the top".

Reppert On Gardening.

R. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service, promises to give us some helpful suggestions on gardening in the near future. Dr. Reppert is one of the best gardeners in Bryan, Walter Downard not excepted.

Taubenhaus On Root Rot.

Those farmers who have been troubled with cotton wilt, root rot, etc., should confer with County Agent C. L. Beason, plant pathologist of the A. and M. College, may visit these places during the year to the end that a remedy may be found for this plant disease. Dr. Taubenhaus has been making extensive study along this line and has already made some helpful discoveries for the cotton farmers.

Reclaiming By Terracing.

Will Jones of the Harvey community says he is going to show his appreciation of help given him in his terracing by building terraces that everybody will admire. Mr. Jones has quite a good deal of land that is washing, one tract practically an abandoned farm, which he has recently purchased, but it can be reclaimed.

Operating Farm Levels.

While running terrace lines on the J. M. Kincannon farm Monday, two other farmers, Ben Graham and Will Raines, visited the demonstration, and in a few minutes learned the "mysteries" of the farm level, and almost, or quite, beat the County Agent running lines. This is as it should be. These farmers can now run their own lines; all they need being a farm level.

Terraces Worth $1,000.

Terrace lines run on the Kincannon and Jones farm on Monday of this week, when terracing is properly finished, be worth $100 a year to each of these farms for the next ten years. Similar work should have been in progress on fifty other farms in the county. Help us work out a plan by which more farms can be reached before they wash away.

Prizes for Leadership.

The Farm Journal is offering $1,000 in prizes for leadership among boys' and girls' clubs, $250 first prize for the boy making the best record as a leader, and $250 for the girl making the best record as leader. Are these incentives not sufficient to bring out the best leadership among the boys and girls in each of the nine clubs of the county? If the adult people are interested in developing leadership among their boys and girls, they ought to choose their leaders and start the drive. The prize can be easily won. distinction can be attained by some worthy boy or girl, and a record made in leadership that will kindle the fires of ambition in the hearts of other young people.

Balanced Rural Program.

In a recent article in some of the farm papers, S. G. Robinson, formerly of the A. and M. College, stated that co-operative marketing would fail, because it had gained its membership by "high-powered" methods. In planning the programs for our community meetings, we should ponder the thought by Mr. Robinson, and feel assured that no rural organization can live if it must always have a "high-powered" program. The good housewife has learned to balance the family diet; the dairyman feeds his herd a balanced ration in order that he may obtain the most milk possible. Would it not be well for each program committee to work out a "balanced" program, not for one month, but for an entire year? Think it over. Let's start something.

Keep Eye On "Hoppers."

R. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service, advises that farmers should be on the lookout for grasshoppers and cutworms. He states that while observations made do not indicate that there will be any great infestation of grasshoppers over the state, yet there may be local outbreaks which should have the best means possible quickly applied. In speaking concerning cutworms he said, "Belief is that cut worm damage will be general this spring and probably severe, especially in coast counties. Keep close watch, or often hundreds of acres of cotton destroyed almost before the insect's presence is known." Clean cultivation is urged; bran mash poison may have to be used.

Johnnie Perrone, club member of Steele's Store, has planted one acre to Bermuda onions. He will also have one acre planted to corn. Better keep your eye on Johnnie, he is headed again for the Dallas Fair.

Nothing They Won't Try.

One of the most commendable traits of the Steele's Store Club members is that they will do, or try to do, anything requested of them—any time, any where.

Science and invention are continually adding to the progress of civilization. He profits most who keeps up with these new discoveries and inventions to such extent that he can make practical application of them in his own enterprise, whether it be in manufacturing, mining, poultry raising or farming. As a result of experiments made by Dr. Maurice C. Hall and Dr. J. E. Shillinger of the zoological division, bureau of animal industry, U. S. D. A., an announcement is made that Kamala, a powder obtained from a plant in India, is effective as a remedy for tapeworms in poultry, dose being one gram for chickens and two grams for turkeys.

On Thursday of last week Cosmo Canatella had run on his farm five miles west of Bryan terrace lines which, when terraces are properly finished, be worth one hundred dollars a year for the next five years. The farm is practically ruined now, but watch it be reclaimed by means of terracing. It is perhaps one of the worst gulched farms in the entire county, and it will now require much work to build terraces that will be effective, but it can be done; and it is the only remedy for a farm in such condition.

PRESIDENT CHAMBER COMMERCE MRS. LEE J. ROUNTREE IN AN ADDRESS TO BRYAN LIONS CLUB

(By S. C. Hoyle).

A new note was sounded in co-operative progress in Bryan and Brazos county yesterday when Sam Eberstadt, chairman of the Program committee, introduced Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, president of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, as the principal speaker of the day. After commenting on the marvelous growth and development of the Bryan Lions Club, Mrs. Rountree referred to the five-year program being launched by the Chamber of Commerce and remarked that the Lions had gone the Chamber of Commerce one better by sponsoring a ten-year program.

She explained that the Chamber of Commerce was general in its membership and that all classes were equally interested in its activities and emphasized the importance of selling the advantages of the five-year farm program to the people. She pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce will accomplish that which a majority think should be accomplished; that enthusiasm, like music, is catching and inspiring; that it is up to the individuals of Bryan and Brazos county to get behind this program with their money and individual service and create such enthusiasm in the minds of each individual that it will become a personal matter of recognized vital interest to each citizen; that when such a flame of enthusiasm has swept through Brazos county as to consume the misgivings of all "Doubting Thomases" and insure individual cooperative effort from every possible angle, then, and then only, will this program come into a ripe and successful fruition. She emphasized the fact that when we get Bryan to thinking as a community about making it a better place to live and inspire our citizens to individual effort for such consummation that the problems of Bryan will be solved.

She referred to her first readers days by repeating "Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the wondrous land," and pointed out that great community building must come in the same manner. She insisted that because individuals could not do great things, that this was no reason why they should not be willing to do the so-called small things; that it took a multiplicity of small things to make the great and that by each individual doing the things, be they ever so small, which lie within their capacity, that excellent team work would be developed. Our great trouble she said is that we measure ourselves by someone else, and because we can not do as well as others, we fail to try to do our best which leads to inaction, and breeds failure. The true spirit, she insisted, is for each to do their best the things their hands find to do, sparing neither finances nor individual effort, and that then civic and rural improvement and growth would receive such impetus as to assure marvelous cooperative service and phenomenal growth and development.

She then launched into another object which is very dear to her heart which was the planting of trees along the College highway and beautifying of this connecting link between Bryan and College. She said that she was depending on 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the Lions Club to make this year the best in its history.

Lion F. D. Fuller introduced as his guests some prominent visitors to College and Bryan as follows: W. S. Frisbie, Washington, D. C.; H. H. Walters, Chicago, Ill.; and E. C. Boudreaux, New Orleans, La. These gentlemen are here in the interest of enforcement of food and feed law and spent the day with F. D. Fuller in charge of the Feed Control at College Station, conferring over food and feed problems.

Lion President Erskine then introduced a new member in the person of J. W. Hendrix, District Representative of the National Life and Accident Insurance Co.

President Erskine also announced that next Tuesday the Lions would have a luncheon served from "Made-in-Brazos County" products.

Those present were: Henry Locke, E. J. Hunt, Lamar Jones, Geo. W. Griner, Edwin E. Aldridge, Tom G. Suber, F. B. Patrella, J. E. Hensarling, J. Coulter Smith, Pat Newton, S. E. Eberstadt, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, M. M. Erskine, J. W. Hendricks, Jr., M. F. Vitopli, E. L. Gibson, J. Bryan Miller, V. R. Smitham, E. E. Neely, R. E. Bosque, J. M. Ferguson, W. W. Chambers, C. A. Searcy, S. C. Hoyle, Maurice Searcy, Harry Edge, R. V. Armstrong, W. S. Frisbie, Washington, D. C.; H. H. Walters, Chicago, Ill.; E. C. Boudreaux, New Orleans, La.; F. D. Fuller, and Mrs. Roy Danforth, pianist.

Mr. McCrary is now serving his second year as principal of the Millican schools and in addition is active in the work of the Methodist church there where he often fills the pulpit.

Mr. McCrary is a live wire and up to the minute. With his broad technical training and his experience with the problems of the profession and training in life itself, he should make an admirable county superintendent. His ideas are most progressive and he should carry along the program to the best interests of the county.

There is to be a race in the campaign for county superintendent of Brazos County, the second entry being J. W. McCrary, Jr., of Millican, who has just announced that he will make the race for that position, subject to the will of the primaries in July.

Mr. McCrary is a young man of but 32 years of age but has had much technical training and a broad experience in life. He is 32 years of age and has been in the profession of teaching for seven years and for two years was, by appointment, superintendent of Cottle county. Mr. McCrary has worked out his education since he was married and knows what it takes to get one. He was raised on a farm in Wilbarger county and finished high school work at the Vernon High School in 1913. He spent two years in Southwest University, 1913-16, and attended S. M. U. in the years from 1921 to 1924. He made his way through the Southern Methodist University by running a dairy and a transfer.

PERSONNEL OF COMMITTEES ARE MADE FOR CHAMBER COMMERCE

Agricultural, Finance and Highway Committees are Down to Work and Promise to Have Reports Ready for Next Meeting of Board—Congratulatory Message Sent To Dr. Bizzell.

There was some cut in the record attendance that has prevailed thus far in the fiscal year, this morning when the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce convened in regular Tuesday morning session at 10:00. Snapp, Superintendent Madison Hall and C. A. Harris. Three committee chairmen promised to have reports ready for the next meeting as they were at work on pertinent matters and chairman also submitted their choice of personnel for the committees which they head.

Chairman J. Webb Howell of the agricultural committee reported that a meeting had been held and that plans were being worked out and a full report would be made at the next meeting of the Board.

Chairman J. N. Dulaney of the finance committee stated that his committee would meet right away and would report at the meeting next Tuesday on financial matters pertaining to the organization.
